COURT RULES ON BOULEGARD MOTORS

Traces Sellers of Cars Need Not Say the Character of Those They Deal With

Washington, Nov. 5 (AP)—An automobile finance company can recover a car sold by it on the conditional payment plan and later confiscated by the government because of illicit use, the District Court of Appeals decided today. The decision frees automobile credit agencies here of a bogey which has haunted them for years—the loss of their equities in cars inadvertently sold to bootleggers. The court held that the General Motors Acceptance Corporation was not obliged to determine whether John M. Byrads had a criminal record, or whether the car was to be used for illegal purposes, but had shown its good faith by inspecting his credit record and obtaining character references. It ordered the car returned to the corporation.

The lower court had decided the finance company was obligated to make sure the car was not to be used for illicit purposes and that the government should not waive confiscation rights in the company's favor.

Having made itself reasonably sure of his character and commercial rating, Chief Justice George E. Martin decided, the company could not be expected to delve further into his private life.

PRINCESS MAY MARRY DUKE

Madrid, Nov. 5—Rumors of an impending match between the Infanta Beatriz and England's youthful Duke of Norfolk have been revived in the Spanish capital, in the departure of Queen Victoria and her two daughters for a visit to London.

The Queen and the Infanta Beatriz and Maria Cristina will go first to Paris. After a few days' stay, they will journey to London, a city for which Her Majesty, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria, has always felt a special affection. During the summer reports were circulated in Madrid that Her Majesty was desirous of marrying her eldest daughter to an English peer. The rumors reached the point where it was said that a match was being arranged with a duke not of royal line.

Since Spaniards are confident that King Alfonso would not countenance the marriage of his daughter to a non-Catholic, the reports have definitely linked the 30-year-old Duke of Norfolk, the only English duke.

It is felt certain here that Queen Victoria's present visit to London is the prelude to the marriage of her daughter to the Duke of Norfolk will be announced during her London stay.

Model Does Not Go So Big With Man Who Wanted a Wife

New York, Nov. 5—A model does not always make a model wife. That was the conclusion reached by Referee Joseph E. Newbater, after a man who married one told him. "She said she had to live all her life in a cage," he said. "I was not a model, but I was a model."

After listening to a three-minute deposition of his wife, E. Newbater, 31-year-old model, by Jack Paul, Referee Newbater recommended that Paul's petition for an annulment be granted. According to Paul, his wife is more beautiful than a French girl and just as suggestive.

Amateur Problem in Vassar Love Ladder

Lakeville, Ct., Nov. 5—Conditions in Vassar College might well merit the attention of the Carnegie Foundation investigators in the field of college athletics, according to a story printed in The Hotchkiss Record, undergraduates newspaper of Hotchkiss school. At Vassar, the story says, lists of ranking are frequently posted for participants in college athletics, such as tennis, golf, and squash. These lists resemble the familiar rankings in amateur golf and tennis. Vassar students call these lists "adders."

Recently, the Record reports, a new list made its appearance on the bulletin board of Traxton Hall, one of the dormitories. It was called "Ladder of Love" and beneath it were enumerated the qualifications which put a girl's name high on the list.

"Every girl is listed on the ladder," the story goes on. "Her position may be advanced by any of the various situations which a gentleman may pay her. A letter sent her up one rung. Special delivery letters and telegrams count three places. Flowers and invitations to formal dances—either one—will send the lady to the next list."

"Naturally," says the Record, "the rankings are never fixed for long. Upsets are frequent and violent. One girl, however, was such a consistent winner that her status as an amateur was questioned."

"An investigation followed. And charges of professionalism was upheld. The girl, a member of the freshman class, had been secretly married one month before college opened."

The city of it all is that, this, the glory and the fame is doomed to be as fleeting as so many other things in this disappointing world. There is no engagement. Miss Bow had only a casual acquaintance with Leggett and hasn't seen him for six months.

The three-alarm girl of the screen said—well, not her exact words, but what she meant. She doesn't care if he is a count, comes from Hungary or is a fellow thespian. No great agent is going to make Leggett her fiancé. "Talk of an engagement is 'applicable'."

Sometimes Miss Bow's statements are as trivial as her screen personality. The star said in so many words that she is getting rather tired of being reported "ragged to pieces" in the eyes of publicity.

Miss Bow did not mention that her alleged engagement to Harry Richmond, known to a limited circle of night club patrons, was any bar to her screen career. The explanation has been given twice since once around Hollywood that her engagement to the Broadway boyfren was announced no so widely as she had intended. She was reported to have been released from her engagement to Richmond, but could not be reached to say anything. If anything was to be said, it would be to the effect that she was not engaged to him.

Two Youths Smash Plate Glass Windows

Weymouth police were today seeking two young vandals who, while an officer stood 200 yards away, demolished plate glass windows in the Schofield garage, East Weymouth, by hurling bricks through them.

Police say the damage was done because of the presence in the window of cards advocating the candidacy for representative of Fred E. O'Connor.

She Will Wed? Ah, Maybe

New York, Nov. 5—If Jed Harris, Broadway producer, expects to marry Ruth Gordon, 32, actress, as European rumors hint, neither he nor Mrs. Anita Harris, his estranged wife, yet has signified divorce intentions to make Harris' second marriage possible.

It has been less than 24 hours since I heard from Mrs. Harris. Joseph P. Bickerton, the producer's lawyer, said, "She was then in New York, and she said nothing to me of plans for going to Mexico—elsewhere, for that matter—to divorce her husband."

Bickerton then disclosed that Harris and his wife have been secretly separated since June 12, 1927, when they signed an agreement to that effect in his presence.

Harris gives his wife a substantial check each week. Bickerton said, "and, so far as I know, it is the wish of neither of them to be divorced."

Harris is now in Florence, Italy, recuperating from a threatened nervous breakdown. Bickerton said, while Miss Gordon is in Paris.

OPERA HEARD IN SKYSCRAPER

Chicago, Nov. 5 (AP)—A 14-story skyscraper at a $20,000,000 temple of music rising sheer from the banks of the Chicago river and heard Verdi's "Aida" dedicate the skyscraper theater to music's most towering form—carnal opera.

The Ghetto, it is larger than, the Grand and it is like the Verdi and the Aida; but it is the Gold Coast that ruled the opening night in overwhelming numbers and noise.

As early as 8:30 p. m. began the procession of limousines and cars along the colonnade front. It has been said that no theater in the world has imposed an approach as this new Civic Opera House.

DEED IN SEA 500 MILES OFF THEIR ROUTE

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 5 (AP)—Brief radio messages from the isolated Arctic trading post of Cambridge Bay on Victoria Island today told the battle against the frozen North waged for two months by eight aerial prospectors before they were found by wandering Eskimos.

The party, headed by Col. D. H. McAlpine, president of Dominion Explorers, Ltd., had been missing since September 8, when they took off from Baker Lake, Manitoba, in two airplanes on a prospective trip.

News of their rescue, tersely told in a radio message laboriously sent off by Jack McKinnon, an amateur operator at Cambridge Bay, brought to an end the greatest air hunt ever conducted in the north. A half-dozen planes, a supply ship and land parties were engaged in a search which covered more than 32,000 miles.

LANDED ON SEA

Col. McAlpine in a message to the headquarters of Dominion Explorers, here, said they had been lost in the Arctic fogs and had landed in the sea.

After taking off from Baker Lake, he said, they landed safely that night at Beverly Lake, the halfway point on their projected 500-mile flight to Bathurst Inlet. They waited a day to ride south to clear and then took off again on September 10, but soon realized they were lost in the fogs.

Flying for hours over the open waters of the Arctic in search of landmarks, the gas supply of the plane became exhausted and the plane was falling and a successful landing was made on the earth.

FOUND BY ESKIMOS.

With the greatest difficulty they pulled their heavy pontoon-equipped planes ashore on a sandy beach and erected a rude shelter about their planes and then waited for help.

Despite a more widespread search each day they were unable to find any sign of human habitation.

Finally, as they were almost abandoning hope, three wandering Eskimos arrived at their camp, attracted by the fire which they had kept burning night and day.

Through the "Eskimo" of the north they acquainted the Eskimos of their plight and the latter agreed to lead them to the nearest settlement.

They learned from the Eskimos that they had come down at a point west of the mouth of the Elles river and more than 100 miles northwest of their destination.

They apparently had mistaken the Elles river for the Western river and had followed it northward to the ocean.

COAST GUARDS ACCUSED

Melville, Nov. 5 (AP)—Capt. Stoddard, of the Nova Scotian schooner James B., which was rammed and sunk off Long Island last Wednesday in a collision with the coast guard cutter Chub, said on his arrival here that at the time of the collision his light was in order and that the searchlights of the coast guard boat were turned on his ship.

He also declared the coast guard boat made no effort to rescue his crew which put off in a dory after the impact and rowed to the Cabotage. He said the James B. sank in 13 minutes.

Refuses to Rule on Ship Fire Loss

Washington, Nov. 5.—The Supreme Court refused to decide whether the government had the right to collect $200,000 from the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company for fire losses suffered on the steamship America, while under charter.

The lower courts held the fire was caused by the company's negligence, but the Circuit Court of Appeals held the fire damage should be met first out of $2,000,000 insurance which the government carried.

TO BEHOLD TROTSEV'S FATE

Moscow, Nov. 5 (AP)—The official organ, Izvestia, today warned Nikolai Bukharin and other members of the right wing opposition to the Communist party, that unless they acknowledge their "mistakes" and recognize that the government is pursuing the correct policy in its economic and agricultural plans, they will meet the same fate as the exiled Leon Trotsky.

Izvestia declared that the wonderful results of the first year of the five-year industrialization plan proved the members of the right wing wrong. It added that only groups of Russia's farms on a great scale can solve the country's agricultural and economic problems.

Nikolai Bukharin formerly was editor-in-chief of Pravda, important Moscow daily and has held posts as member of the Communist executive and member of the Presidium Council of Supreme Economy. He generally has been associated with such other "rightists" as Mikhail Tomsky and Alex. N. Rykov. There have been insinuations of late of his loss of standing with the present all-powerful Soviet group headed by Joseph Stalin.

Chicago, Nov. 5 (AP)—An actor's record, jotted from his hand as he left, was revealed today as the actor, Oscar, was injured in a fight with Miss Jean Stevens, a debutante of last season. The point of the sword penetrated just above the heart.

Neither the management of the Goodman Theater, where the accident occurred, nor Miss Stevens would reveal the name of the actor.

Miss Stevens was watching a rehearsal from the front row. At the close of a Shakespearean sketch the actor turned from the stage slipped and fell into the orchestra.

The sword hurtling against Miss Stevens. The point had been blunted in the sword and this probably saved the young woman's life.

Bullets Fly in Gang War of Boys

Weston, Nov. 5.—Furious gang fights between bands of boys ranging in age from 10 to 12, in which knives of shots were fired and death menaced children and adults, were brought to a halt when police of station 2 confiscated a number of small-calibered rifles.

The police action in the matter, taken under direction of Capt. Luke J. Dillon, followed close upon the actor's complaint that boys were shooting in the vicinity of Harrison and Lodge sts. and that bullets were flying through the neighborhood.

Clubs to Observe Education Week

General Federation Indorses Project and Urges All Units Cooperate

A BOSTON AMERICAN special on Education Week, Nov. 11-12.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has endorsed the Education Week and has circulated the club constituency to observe the week in their club programs.

To the development of the educational system, clubwomen are urged to tangibly express their helpful acknowledgment.

This will be the ninth year that the event has been observed and it has gained popularity with the backing of clubs and religious organizations.

The program for American Education Week is built around the principal objectives of education. They are health and safety, worthy home membership, mastery of tools, spirit of learning, vocational and economic effectiveness, faithful citizenship, wise use of leisure, and ethical character.

Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College and chairman of the department of education for the General Federation of Women's Clubs, asks the unanimous co-operation of every American clubwoman in the country in the observance of the week.

A fine attendance turned out for Miss Marion H. Brazier's luncheon to the new presidents of the sixth district and members of the club, held at the Homestead Studio, 711 Boylston st.

Mrs. Frederick Glaister Smith, General Federation membership chairman; Mrs. William J. McDonald, sixth district director; Mrs. Edgar Levinstein, president of the Women's Auxiliary of Angel Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Carl L. Watson, president, City Federation; Mrs. Mary G. Reed, president, Massachusetts Federation of Music Clubs; and Mrs. George Derby were among the guests.

WOMEN AUXILIARY, ANGEL MEMORIAL HOSPITAL. The auxiliary is proud of its latest philanthropic, and more particularly the new ambulance for which it paid $700 and with which animals will be transported to the hospital whenever necessary.

Mrs. Edgar Levinstein, president of the auxiliary, headed an excursion to the real home at the museum, where the members look "as many carvots as we could carry to 'Small Packages' the old horse of John R. Macomber, and

FOREST AND STREAM CLUB. Mrs. L. Gertrude Howes, chairman of the Board Table committee, presided at the meeting held at the Twentieth Century Club, at which

"Flights and Sights in Europe" were illustrated and described by H. Harding Hale, Albert R. Rogers, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Bay Tercentenary, told of the proposed celebration for Boston.

WEDNESDAY MEETINGS. NEW ENGLAND WOMAN'S PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Mrs. Joseph A. Mahoney (Bangs Burgess), announces a very interesting program for this meeting commencing the 4th anniversary of the founding of the association. The celebration starts at 3 p. m. at the Hotel Victoria, an hour after the business meeting.

Invited to the birthday party is Edwin Markham, poet, author of "The Man With the Hoe." "Lin-

NEW CANTY CLUB. Legislation dramatized in legislation enjoyed.

To such conviction are the Needham club women devoted and they aim to prove it at this meeting in the Baptist Church, with a skit, "Legislation is a Curse," written and directed by Mrs. Mary Livermore.

NEW ENGLAND REGIONAL NATIONAL COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN. Opens its two-day session at the Narragansett Hotel, Providence, with representatives of the councils throughout New England in attendance.

From the Boston Section, the delegation will be headed by the president, Mrs. Hyman Preiman. The National Council is the most representative organization of Jewish women in the country and numbers in its membership thousands of outstanding Jewish women.

BELMONT WOMAN'S CLUB. The Literature Committee sponsors the meeting, held at 3:30 o'clock at the Town Hall. Professor Robert Hilber of Harvard University, guest speaker, will discuss "Modern Poetry." Mrs. Edwin S. Paris heads the club of 100 Belmont women.

Line of the Molded Silhouette Seems to Have Found Favor With Many of the Leading Actresses appearing at the Theatre Michel in a vehicle especially suitable to her talents. She is noted too, for her style sense, and so we are glad to send sketches of two costumes worn by her in her new production.

Noted Star of Paris Stage Wears Two Smart Models

Paris Bureau of the Boston Evening American

PARIS, France, Nov. 5.—It isn't only the lines that count on the stage—it's a line. Theatrical openings follow each other in brisk succession and the stage wardrobes chosen by the stars are always an important indication of what is acceptable in the new modes.

The line of the molded silhouette seems to have found favor with many of the leading actresses, for it lends asymmetrical grace to their movements, and so is eminently adaptable to stage wear.

Many of the leading performers are actresses famous not only for their exquisite taste but for their genius in selecting clothes that are a fascinating interpretation not only of their own personality, but of the character of the type that they are portraying. And yet, they contrive to prevent their clothes from acquiring the taint of theatricalism.

Mlle. Alice Cocca, who in private life is the Comtesse de Rochefoucauld, one of the oldest titles in France, is appearing at the Theatre Michel in a vehicle especially suitable to her talents.

BEIGE is very popular for stage wear here, and nearly every artist contrives to have one or more of her clothes in this becoming shade. The second model from Mlle. Cocca's wardrobe is in a deep beige that brings out this star's lovely coloring.

IT, too, is by Cheruit, who has been very successful in creating a simple little frock that is strikingly effective. It is of crepe with a tight-fitting bodice and a full skirt laid in unpressed pleats or folds at intervals all around. Three large bows of dark brown crepe satin are placed at strategic points to decorate the front of the dress.

THE LATE GETTING OUT AS LIGHT EARLY VOTE IS CAST

EVERYBODY IS TALKING UP WAKING UP

Afternoon Hours Show First Signs of Real Interest in Election

General light voting was reported in the 22 wards of the city with women, save in a few instances, very late in getting out.

Ward committees were very active with automobile, checkers and telephone, but the vote failed to respond during the first five hours. Morning reports from the wards were as follows:

WARD 1

In this usually hot Curley stronghold of East Boston where there are some 14,000 registered voters it was estimated that 20 per cent of the entire registration had cast its ballot during the first three hours.

Much interest was shown in the Mansfield vote here, the good Government Association candidate having spent his boyhood years in this district. Whether this sentiment would offset the usual Curley strength would not be known until 6 o'clock.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock a fairly large vote was recorded but the bulk was not expected until after 3 p. m.

Charlestown's was the heaviest early vote of the city, yet it was reported here the average for the district. In three hours 2000 votes were cast in the 17000 registered voters. It was 12,185 registered voters in the ward and almost half of them were women. The women, however, did not begin to get out until about 9 o'clock.

Precincts 14 and 17, Ladler's house and the Tenet school, witnessed the heaviest women's vote. The Green-Mellon-Doolittle council fight was believed responsible for the good early showing. Voting opened up shortly before noon and was expected to remain quiet and grow heavier beginning about 3 p. m.

This Back Bay ward saw some of the lightest balloting of the day in the three hours after polls had opened only a few more than 100 votes had been cast.

Ward leaders had figured, however, that there would be much better turnout after noon, with the bulk of the balloting between 3 and 5 p. m.

WARD 6

Probably the lightest voting ever recorded in a city election was reported here at 10 o'clock. Work was failed to visit the polls for appreciable numbers between 6 and noon. A majority of the ballots cast were by women.

The big rush for the polls in Boston was expected to begin at 4 p. m. and reach its height at 6:30.

WARD 7

An old Curley stronghold in the city, this South Boston district failed to get out early and vote for anybody. As in the past, the vote on record was being cast.

WARD 8

Curley talk was strong in this big ward, comprising part of Roxbury and part of the city. However, the early voting was running slack on a ratio of three-to-five to normal. In the first hours there had been 1450 ballots checked, while the normal vote for the same period is approximately 2500.

WARD 9

In the 15 precincts of this South End Democratic stronghold, an average of only 175 ballots were cast during the first three and one-half hours of balloting. This was by far the lightest in the history of city elections with relation to the number registered in the ward.

Both attendants were inclined to blame not only the 8 p. m. closing hour but a general apathy on the part of the public. However, evinced but little interest in the mayoral campaign until the closing days.

WARD 10

Taking in a section of Roxbury, this ward scene of many bitter battles in the past, witnessed today the first early rush of women to the polls. Shortly after 9 o'clock the women began to arrive and between 9 and 11 o'clock probably 50 per cent of the total vote was cast by women.

Elderly ladies appeared in large numbers. The heaviest voting was reported in Precincts 10 and 14.

WARD 11

Light voting, steadily increasing and carrying the prediction of a very late afternoon and late evening vote, was reported in this Roxbury district. At 10 a. m. a total of the vote lightest precinct was only 217 votes, or an average of a little more than 70 per voter in four hours of balloting.

The speeding up began shortly

WARD 12

The lightest vote in years was reported here during the morning hours. At precinct 14 at 10:30 a. m. only 365 votes had been cast, a number several hundred below that registered in the same period four years ago and considerably less than during the presidential election. The average held throughout the other precincts.

An aged man accompanied by his wife, collapsed in the voting booth in the Swedish church, Warren st., where Mansfield cut his ballot. The man was carried out by a doctor. He was taken home in an automobile. His name was not learned.

The Pilgrim Congregational church, Upham corner, the polling place of Precinct 7, reported a fair vote that was expected to be heavy late this afternoon. Forty-four votes were cast during the first hour and of these only two were marked by women.

The women continued to be tardy as the hours progressed and shortly before noon the women's vote slackened off entirely.

WARD 14

Here the voting was so heavy anywhere in the Dorchester district during the first few hours of the day that it was expected to be heavy late this afternoon. Forty-four votes were cast during the first hour and of these only two were marked by women.

The women continued to be tardy as the hours progressed and shortly before noon the women's vote slackened off entirely.

WARD 15

This section, showing in the Field-Corner district, slacked early again, when ward leaders had predicted a 50 per cent vote, gave no indication that the prediction would be fulfilled, at least such indication was not forthcoming up to 10:30 a. m.

Not until after 8:30 o'clock was

WARD 16

The early voting here was the heaviest in the Dorchester district, with about 1000 ballots cast during the first hour. At Precinct 7, voting booth Florida and Templeton sts., 92 votes were marked in the first hour.

Surprisingly in contrast with other wards, there were a number of women on hand shortly after the polls opened.

WARD 17

A fair vote during the first three hours became a fairly heavy one about noon-time in this ward, taking in the Codman sq. district. An indication of the increase is contained in the register. At Precinct 10 in the Henry L. Pierce school. There, in the first hour, 97 votes were cast. By noon that number had been multiplied by eight, and a line was beginning to form outside the booth. Representation of women was only fair.

WARD 19

Activities of the ward leaders managed to get out a fairly respectable vote in this Jamaica Plain precinct. At the first Baptist Church, polling place of precinct 1, 127 votes were cast in the first hour and a line in an hour the precinct voting place in the German Reform Church reported only 27.

The Republican ward committee was unusually active with a large fleet of cars, numerous telephone workers and many checkers. The women's list started to come out shortly after 9 o'clock and slackened off at noon.

WARD 20

The Roxbury-West Roxbury district, where ward leaders had predicted an 80 per cent vote, gave no indication that the prediction would be fulfilled, at least such indication was not forthcoming up to 10:30 a. m.

Not until after 8:30 o'clock was

EARLY VOTE IS IN EARLY IN SOMERVILLE

Extremely heavy voting in all Somerville wards in the early morning was reported today in the city election contest.

By noon about 10,000 voters had been to the polls. Fully 30,000 of the entire registration of 39,000 are expected to apply for ballots, in the greatest majority battle in recent Somerville history.

The Democrats had the earlier start, for their organization began functioning at 5:30 a. m. in an intensive drive to induce voters to ballot before going to work. This drive was designed to relieve the pressure of follow-up work later in the day, as the polls in this city were on 8 o'clock and 6 p. m. schedule.

Heading the Democratic ticket is John J. Murphy, athlete and war veteran, who was opposed by William S. Howe, Republican nominee. The result was regarded as close with the independent vote admittedly the deciding factor.

The Murphy forces expressed themselves as encouraged by the party harmony prevailing in their own ranks, as contrasted with the bitter dissension caused by the bolting of the Republican party by William Warren C. Deane, who defeated G. O. P. majority aspirant, Murphy had taken the nomination from Arthur B. Healy and Robert Housley, but both of his opponents took the party line in his behalf. Further encouragement is gained by Murphy from reviewing the recent presidential election results for Somerville.

On that occasion "Al" Smith carried the city by 2000 and Senator Walsh by 5000.

Mancheiser, Concord, N. H., Each Voting for Mayor

Concord, N. H., Nov. 5 (AP).—Voters of Concord and Mancheiser today went to the polls to elect mayors.

In this city the incumbent, Robert W. Brown, appointed from the Board of Aldermen as successor to the late Olin H. Chase, is opposed by Stanley B. Crawford.

The 336,000 ballots were distributed to the 333 precincts before 5:30 a. m. and every polling place was opened promptly at 6 a. m. According to Chairman Frank Suberich of the election commission, the balloting was going smoothly, there on any election day in the city's history. Nowhere was there any complaint of suspected irregularities the nearest to a complaint coming from Ward 9, Charlestown, where one candidate said repeaters might show up.

The commission chairman sent an extra policeman into the precinct concerned, but nothing developed.

Members of the Women's City Club will hear a musical program while waiting for the election results at their clubhouse, 10 Beacon st., this evening. John S. H. Archer, treasurer, who is a Harvard student, will entertain with Spanish and Italian selections.

As Votes Were Cast

An illegal voting situation existed for about an hour this forenoon in Precinct 16 of Ward 14, in the Audubon school on Harvard st., Mattapan. Sergeant Patrick Flaherty of Station 19 discovered only three election officials on duty whereas the law required that at least four shall be in the room at all times.

Two of the clerks had gone to breakfast together, leaving the precinct undermanned. The sergeant protested to Warden Charles J. Broderick and then appealed to the election commission. Additional men were sent to the voting room.

Illustrating the extent to which automobiles were in use today in the various wards, a taxi driver in a Brighton precinct said that he had driven more than 25 miles in the first two hours of carrying voters.

"I'm tired for a fair rate for all day long," he said, and the account is charged to a candidate for city council.

The election did not interfere with household duties in Dorchester. Women of that district were unable to do the family routine yesterday because of the rain, did wait this morning. They refused to be annoyed by vote-getting henchmen of candidates, or to ride to the polls in automobiles this morning to cast their ballots. "Come around this afternoon after we get our work done," was the usual answer.

Capt. John E. Driscoll of Mattapan police station informed the election commission that one of the precinct officials was missing after the polls opened, in Ward 15, Precinct 11, which is the Audubon school, Roxbury.

There should be eight precinct officers here, Captain Driscoll found only seven.

BOSTON Mother's Plan is succeeding...

WHEN your child is headachy, bilious, feverish, half-dick with no appetite or energy, nine times out of ten, just one thing is to blame: constipation!

Cleanse the little digestive tract with California Fig Syrup and see how breath is sweetened, coated tongue cleared, eyes brightened. More than two doses are seldom necessary to drive away all signs of a clogged system; make a child happy. There's no "child who doesn't love" laxative, fruit-flavored. Improved appetite, digestion and assimilation follow its use. A child's entire system is toned and strengthened.

Mrs. J. McDonough, 14 Ship Ave., Boston, says: "Since I found out how good California Fig Syrup is, I have kept some in the house. It never fails to help my children. I give it at the first sign of upset or cold. Their wonderful food condition proves this a good laxative. I have named my child after the name California."

SURVEY SHOWS DRUNKENNESS INCREASING

Washington, Nov. 5.—Although national prohibition has been in operation for a decade, arrests for drunkenness and operating automobiles while intoxicated have vastly increased in the larger cities. These facts were disclosed by a nationwide survey made by Representative Schafer (R.) of Wisconsin, he has revealed.

Replies received by Schafer to a questionnaire sent by him to the largest city in every state in the Union, showed that even in the so-called bone dry sections drunkenness has increased.

Schafer said: "The official reports I have received indicate that prohibition has failed to achieve what the drys predicted—increased sobriety.

"They add no other reason for modifying the unworkable prohibition laws. As soon as the House of Representatives reconvenes in regular session I am going to offer an amendment to the census law, providing for a national referendum on the prohibition issue in 1933.

"It is my purpose to have the census enumerators submit a ballot to every qualified voter, asking whether he or she favors modifying the prohibition law along the lines provided in the plan of Judge Francis Chase Hoyt, which won the temperance contest prize awarded by William Randolph Hearst."

ASK POLICE AT N. Y. POLLS

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—Keyes Winter, head of the LaGuardia campaign committee, announced this afternoon that he had wired Governor Roosevelt for State police to take charge of the election.

Winter declared police were needed in the Bronx and on the East Side where there were repeated disturbances.

One man, Ollie Morgenthau, 40, suffered a fractured skull during an argument in front of a polling place at public school 32 in the Bronx.

Several disputes occurred at public school 21 on the East Side. Winter alleged several voters were intimidated.

Must Give Way to Right On Being Overtaken

Section 4—The driver of a vehicle when about to be overtaken and passed by another vehicle approaching from the rear shall give way to the right when practicable in favor of the overtaking vehicle, on suitable and audible signal being given by the driver of the overtaking vehicle, and shall not increase the speed of his vehicle until completely passed by the overtaking vehicle."

By DR. WILLIAM MCCLINTOCK
Traffic Expert, Department of Public Works

A common cause of highway accidents is to be found in the lack of courtesy and consideration on the part of drivers being overtaken by other vehicles. When they fail to give way reasonably to permit other vehicles to pass, or where they speed up their vehicles, the overtaking driver may readily find that a crash with an oncoming vehicle cannot be avoided.

A previous rule requires drivers to give a horn signal when about to overtake another driver. This rule requires that drivers give a horn signal when about to overtake another driver, and that upon hearing such signal a driver about to be overtaken shall give way to the right in a reasonable manner and shall not speed up his vehicle until the overtaking has been completed.

HEAVY VOTE IS CAST IN LYNN

With 20,000 votes already cast by 1 o'clock, Lynn today was heading in the direction of the heaviest vote in its entire municipal history. Another 10,000 votes were expected to poll before closing time at 4 o'clock. The total registration of the city is about 40,000.

The heavy vote was a surprise. The pre-election campaign has been one of the quietest ever witnessed. There are twice as many candidates as there are positions open for council, school committee and mayor.

J. Fred Manning, city assessor, who ran as high man in the nominations recently, is a "dark horse" candidate against Lynn M. Ranger, president of the City Council. The race is a free-for-all, as Mayor R. S. Bauer did not become a candidate for another term.

12 U. S. PATROL BOATS HUNT RUM FLEET

New York, Nov. 5 (AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune says that 12 high-powered customs harbor patrol boats put forth to combat the efforts of three foreign steamships to land 200,000 bottles of assorted liquors, brandy and champagne.

The liquor was for consumption by election enthusiasts during and after today's mayoralty election. The two fastest boats, carrying machine guns, proceeded to the Raritan river, where a short time ago escaping rum runners raked a customs boat with machine gunfire. Information that two British ships and a French vessel were lying 100 miles off the New Jersey coast waiting to land their contraband cargo was obtained through a tiny crystal radio received by two former marine sergeants who saw service together in the World War, the Herald-Tribune will say.

They built their "cat-wiper" set after the raid a few weeks ago at Highland, N. J., when the operations of a liquor syndicate were uncovered. They stood off Randy Hook in their customs boat and intercepted code messages between the three foreign ships and owners of rum boats ashore.

Daughter Fights Dad in Buffalo Election

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 5 (AP)—Because a Chow dog belonging to her father, Mayor Frank X. Schwab, bit her child, Mrs. Albert E. Gunther is supporting his rival at the election today.

Two years ago, while the Gunthers were visiting at the mayor's home, the dog attacked the child. The Gunthers wanted the dog killed, but the mayor, after having the animal examined by a veterinarian, refused. A rift between the two families resulted.

Mr. Gunther aided in the campaign of Mayor Schwab's opponent, Charles E. Roesch, and with Mrs. Roesch appeared at Roesch rallies. Statements on the family row were issued by both families and the controversy became the feature of the campaign.

More and More COLDS treated externally

A GENERATION ago when Vicks VapoRub was originated, the idea of treating colds without "dosing" was almost unheard of. Today, more and more colds are treated this modern way, and the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

Mothers of young children especially appreciate Vicks, because it checks colds without risk of upsetting delicate little stomachs. Of course it is equally good for adults. Just rubbed on, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice or plaster; and, at the same time, it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.

To keep pace with the ever-increasing demand for this better method of treating colds, the famous Vicks slogan has again been changed, as there are now "Over 25 Million Jars Used Yearly."

WELLESLEY GIRLS VICTIMS OF MYSTERIOUS PROWLER

POWICE HUNT INTERDIKAT COLLEGE

News of Attacks Suppressed, but Students Warned to Go About in Groups

The fact that four Wellesley College girls have been attacked during the past three weeks by a prowler who prowled around the college grounds was made known today by the college authorities, although the Wellesley police denied it.

News of these attacks was kept secret in the hope of catching the intruder, who is believed to be mentally deficient. The Wellesley police and Wellesley College guards have joined in the search, but the prowler has thus far evaded them.

It was revealed today that one of the girls who was annoyed by the man escaped from his clutches as three other girls came to her rescue when she screamed.

The names of the girls who figured in the various incidents have been withheld by college authorities.

College officials have become alarmed by the activities of the prowler that a notice signed by Dean Edith S. Taffa has been posted in all dormitories and college buildings cautioning students not to walk in the wooded areas near the college grounds at night. It is taken effect in groups of three or more.

GOVERNMENT GETS PETITIONERS FOR AUTO FUND

Arguments in Court Against Insurance Initiative Go
Over Till December

While petitioners seeking to block just this action were being put off until December for argument in Supreme Court, Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook today turned over to Frank A. Goodwin 4000 of the 5000 blanks to be used in getting signatures for a State insurance automobile fund initiative.

Goodwin, former registrar of motor vehicles but now chairman of the Boston Finance Commission, has been in the lead in getting signatures for a State insurance automobile fund initiative.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT

The petitioners in Supreme Court seeking an injunction to restrain the secretary from furnishing the blanks on which 20,000 names of voters must be secured to have the fund question appear on the ballot and seeking a review of the attorney-general's action in certifying the blanks were refused until December by Judge Sanderson.

It was agreed by Judge Sanderson, representing the plaintiffs, and Asst. Atty-Gen. Roger Clapp, representing the secretary of state, that the petition should be argued before the full bench of Supreme Court.

When Goodwin had received the blanks, he commented: "It is an extreme pleasure to be enabled to get this with the petition. I know this bill will save the motor vehicle fund from Massachusetts at least $400,000 annually, will make the highways safer, relieve congestion on the roads and do away with the unattractive signs."

Practice to Study Fordham Play in Game Today

EAGLE COACH TO STUDY FORDHAM PLAY

BOSTON COLLEGE followers are keenly interested in the outcome of the game between Fordham and the rugged mountaineers of the University of West Virginia at the Polo Grounds today.

Joe McKenney, the Eagle coach, will attend the game prepared to learn another lesson from his former football teacher, Maj. Frank W. Cavanaugh.

Coach Joe McKenney depends on a great deal upon scouting for his football wins. He spends an average of two full days before each game warning his boys of enemy formations. His teams are always "smart" to the other fellows game.

This was never more noticeable than in the game Fordham-B.C. game of a year ago when McKenney played "Long John" Dixon just a few yards back of the line for a certain short pass that Cavanaugh carried in his repertoire.

Dixon had been drilled on the play one entire afternoon and learned his lesson well. Dickinson checked a short pass and Dixon grabbed it and needed no special field for the score that pulled B.C. from behind and started them on their way to the victory.

McKenney over Maj. Cavanaugh has had a number of new plays. "I'm for a and I don't want to be a" was a terrific thing if it wasn't aware of it, he would have found a bewildering for "passing game to another New York University, 20-0, and Jackie Brown by lateral pass, beat "Over to John Jones."

FORDHAM MUST OPEN UP West Virginia was beaten by Davis-Kirk, 14-0. Fordham tied Davis-Kirk, 6-0. Fordham will have more rugged eleven today than they will next Saturday when they face B.C. West Virginia will force Fordham to open up. Cavanaugh will be a thing back of the line for a clean slate this season which his claims will be his last with Fordham.

Parholyn in mid football is the greatest little crowd-pleaser of them all. And B.C. will have the midweek title than after he was crowned champion. Titles are so much afraid of being knocked off that they don't get into action enough.

"HOW much will you watch against Jimmy Byrne?" asked Mr. Boston.

"Around 24," said Geoffrey laughingly. "Chicken and a peck chips sure are fattening."

"How tall are you?" asked Mr. Boston.

"Five feet two and a half inches," said Mr. Boston.

"Are you married?" asked Mr. Boston.

"No," said Mr. Boston.

"How about the fight Thursday night?" asked Mr. Boston.

"This Byrne is tough. He beat me when we fought in Philly, but I finally won in the seventh round. I hope I'm lucky enough to avoid that fight."

MR. BOSTON found Rip Valenti spreading fire "whatter in Col. Bob McKirly's office."

"Who is the ace of your stable?" queried Mr. Boston.

"Johnny Indriano," answered Valenti. "I just matched him to clash with me at Albany on next Monday night. Indriano has boxing class and loves to fight. You don't have to coax him to step into the ring with first class opposition."

"I feel that Indriano will win tonight," said Mr. Boston.

"All Mello is interested in is to win. He will win the New England welterweight championship for East Boston."

"Everybody wishes Indriano success in his comeback drive," said Mr. Boston. "He received a tough knock from Falt, a fight which he had planned to use as a springboard to the ring."

YALE'S BEST PLAY AND GROUND GAINER STOPPED

By breaking through Looser and into the Yale backfield, Charlie Nims, Dartmouth guard, spoiled this play, one of Yale's best ground gainers. Boath, the ball carrier, had started to his right and Booma was hit just as Albie cut back for the hole at left guard. The Yale linebacker had crossed-blocked their opponents and the interfering backs were the shock troops, driving the Green well out of the path of Boath. Barres has Wolff covered and everything was set, but Looser slipped up and Nims nailed Albie for a two-yard loss.

Michigan Varsity Given Hard Drill

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 5.—Coach Harry Kipke sent his Michigan team through a hard scrimmage in preparation for the Harvard game on Saturday against a junior varsity eleven in the first Monday scrimmage ever scheduled for a Wolverine team.

The extraordinary drill was occasioned by the fact that no game was played Saturday, and the coach felt it necessary to order a regulation contest today to toughen up his proteges after a full week of almost inactivity.

Lined up with Captain Joe Truskowski, back at his accustomed left end, were West Pointman at left tackle, Howard Poe at left guard, Alan Board at center, Charles Bauer at right guard, and William Hayden at right tackle. Willie Hertz at right end, and the backfield consisting of Jack Wheeler at center, Joe Gebus and Donald Wilson at halves and Maynard Morrison at full.

The Wolverine varsity scored one touchdown against their less experienced foes in a scrimmage that lasted more than a half hour. The surprise player today was Buster, transfer from the junior varsity.

Despite his stocky build he carried a plucky of territory and performed better than any other man on the line. Morrison exhibited a plucky of territory and performed better than any other man on the line.

MANDELL'S END OF ARMY-NAVY WAR UP TO HOOVER

By BILL GRIMES Unless their commander-in-chief, Pres. Herbert Hoover can be prevailed upon to appoint himself a committee of one to settle the controversy, there is little likelihood of West Point and Annapolis renewing football relations, even in 1931.

Years before the Navy and Army severed relations with the Army, the Midshipmen and Annapolis college gridiron rivalry was a hot issue.

HOOVER IS OUT UNTIL COLLEGE GAME

WITH Art Huguely, Harvard stellar punter and flashing right halfback definitely out of football until the Yale game, the Crimson found itself on the short end of the betting odds against Michigan today.

Huguely came out of the Phoenix game last week with a strained knee and was ordered by Dr. Tummy Richards to hang up the cleats for two weeks at least. The odds are that Harvard will be without its best punter against Michigan and Hoy Cross, and it is possible that Huguely may be through for the remainder of the season.

Harry Wood and Joe Potoczny are called upon to fill in for Huguely in the kicking department, and both boys are receiving special attention from the coaching staff.

The Crimson lineup will not be affected by Huguely's loss until at least the end of the season, and this is a problem which Harvard must solve before the team meets Ann Arbor.

Shikat to Finish Training in Hub

Dick Shikat, the colossus of the mat from Germany, will finish his training in the Hub before Saturday.

Shikat has the back for a good run-off offense, but the corner of the mat has been stopped often by their own line fall then by the defense of the host.

Johnny Marr, a great boy often, and not too defensively.

Joe Kelly are still wranglers about the fullback position. McKenney is a strong defensive football which may mean the starting of Kelly.

Byrne to Carry Fight to Godfrey in Arena Bout

EVENING AMERICAN SPORTS

READY FOR GODFREY BOUT

BYRNE IN RING WEDNESDAY

JIMMY BYRNE, Kentucky cave-man, will be out to win Thursday night when he battles big George Godfrey, colored heavyweight champion of the world, in their ten-round battle at the Arena Thursday night, for Jimmy Byrne is always out to win.

Last June when he fought a fierce battle with Godfrey before a crowd of 14,000 in Philadelphia, he won the prize of the Philadelphia papers and public by his sensational showing against the black behemoth.

Said Gordon MacKay in the Philadelphia Record: "Byrne made that fight that was the finale at the Phil's Park. The victory was Godfrey's, but the prize was Jimmy's. The reason that we offer our libation in praise of Byrne, of Kentucky and Boston, is due to his savage desire to beat down his rival."

"Jimmy had two courses before him—either to kill and ride a bicycle as other foes of the dark behemoth have done in the past, or he could fight."

"So a little man whose 200 pounds seemed dwarfed and insignificant against the sabbal brawler, Godfrey, went out to win. Not to play 10-rounds, but to be on his feet at the end of the battle. Not to sidestep and veer. Not to step away. But to fight and to win."

"ESTIMANA," continues MacKay, "can stand all the Jimmy Byrnes who rap at its doors. Better a dozen Byrnes, in whom the spirit of the real warrior flames over, than a horde of these safety-first fighters who never are provoked out and couldn't draw a nickel for an outdoor fight in their own yards."

Byrne intends to stage the same kind of a battle on Thursday night. He sees no advantage in staying 10 rounds with Godfrey. He wants to fight and to win, to lose gloriously or win gloriously, and he will throw himself upon those huge black fists in a desperate attempt to conquer the man who is regarded one of the outstanding heavyweights in the world.

Godfrey worked out with Homer Robertson before a capacity crowd at Volney's gym at 130 yesterday, and at three o'clock Byrne followed him by stopping six fast rounds with Joe Chabana, Elmer Rouse and Ed Frugard.

COL. BOB MORRIS has arranged another bang-up card for his patrons. In the eight round roundabout, George Carney, heavy hitting New End middleweight, will meet Pete Pacheco, full-blooded Irish Indian, and in a special six rounder, Ladie Lee of Somerville will battle Irish Padraig O'Connell.

Five four rounders will complete the card. Jack Hicks, a former star from Cambridge, will be paired with Steve Ketchell, Haven's youngster. Jack Ketchell, with Joe Johnson, colored heavy-weight, Pete Harnam, colored heavy-weight, Jimmy Harnam, colored heavy-weight, and Jimmy Harnam, colored heavy-weight, will be paired with Dan Hurley of the South End, and with Sammie Mango of Dorchester.

son at Palo Alto, Calif., playing Leonard Stanford.

NOT only did the Navy break benefit the football team, but it was a stroke of good fortune for the West Point corps. The Army Athletic Association pays the expenses of the entire corps on every football trip. The corps has already made trips this season to Boston and New Haven, and on Friday for Urbana, attend the Notre Dame game at the Yale stadium and then go out to the Coast for the Stanford contest.

Unquestionably the renewal of relations between the Army and the Navy would meet the approval of their schedules. In all probability they would return with but one objective game in view, which would meet with the approval of many most vitally interested in athletics at the military and naval academies.

RUMOR has it that as soon as Coach Bill Ingram of the Army is relieved of his duties at Annapolis, the objections to West Point's playing college stars will be withdrawn.

Ingram is scheduled to receive final orders at the end of the present season and it is for this reason that 1931 has been set for the renewal of relations. But should this rumor prove groundless, the Commandant-in-Chief of the Army and Navy will be forced to question himself and under West Point and Annapolis to patch up their troubles.

That is, of course, if he believes as do most of the officers of the Army and Navy, that under the present system, West Point and Annapolis and particularly the former, are playing money schedules, and that the objective of the game is importance, other than the game.

Shea Rated as Best Passer in East

DURHAM, N. H., Nov. 5 (INS).—Coming on the football fields of the smaller New England colleges this year is John Shea, of Manchester, N. H., pronounced by all the experts who have seen him play as "the best forward passer in the East."

With the impressive record of 51 passes thrown and 36 completed in five games played, this University of New Hampshire captain and fullback is rated by Assistant Coach Al Miller, former Harvard star, as "very big as good as the great Swede Oberlander of Dartmouth except that he doesn't lose quite as long a pass as Oberlander."

Shea throws a forward pass with the same accuracy as he tosses a baseball. He plays catch for the New Hampshire varsity during the baseball season.

"I have never smothered in my life, I keep myself in perfect physical condition all the year around," said this 21-year-old football wonder to Intercollegiate News Service.

SHEA came to the "Wildcats" in 1928 from Manchester, N. H., his home town, where he starred for four years on the West Side High school team. John is now playing his third year on the New Hampshire University varsity eleven.

Admired and abetted by a fully strong line, Shea snaps the ball around to his backs and ends with such ease and grace that it makes his really brilliant passing game look simple. He tosses a light, easy pass that seldom fails to reach the receiver. In the Lowell Tackle game, before a big Day's Day crowd here last Saturday, Shea threw two of these completed passes were for touchdowns.

AGAINST Harvard in the season when Shea got his first opportunity this year of displaying his forward passing was in "the time," he threw 13 passes and completed nine. This was considered by the New Hampshire team as the stronger Crimson line was in on any given time he attempted to hurt the ball.

Against Tufts, one of the smaller New England colleges and one of the best in that class, Shea threw three and completed two passes. Against Boston University he tossed

SCOTT BRYE SQUITS RING

New York Nov. 5.—Eugene Hoot, flyweight champion of Belgium, made his debut in Madison Square Garden with a "striking" round against an Irish Schwartz claimant to the flyweight title. The battle featured the first series of matches between leading contenders for the recent world flyweight title.

So soundly did Hoot trounce the widely recognized American champion, that Schwartz announced from the ring immediately after the decision his permanent retirement from flyweight. Hoot failed to floor the same Jewish nidget, but gave him a hearty cutting every round.

Midget Wolpert, Philadelphia flyweight, defeated Johnny McCoy of Buffalo, N. Y., in a third-round decision. The decision was most unpopular. Wolpert weighed 110 pounds, McCoy 111.

Ruby Bradley, Holyoke, Mass., likewise won an unpopular decision over Ernie Peters, bushy little workman from Chicago, in the first round go.

Peters staggered Ruby with heavy rights in each of the final two rounds, but could not floor his man. The small crowd of 200 boomed the decision. Bradley weighed 112 pounds, Peters 113.

Black Bill, statesman of Kid Chocolate, turned in a fine victory over Willie Davies of Charleston, in the third rounder. Bill weighed 114½, Davies 114.

DOWN-SPICE GAME

Haver, N. H., Nov. 5.—One of the oldest college football series in America will be brought to a close next Saturday when Brown and Dartmouth clash at Providence.

The two colleges first met on the gridiron in 1894, and since then each eleven has won 21 contests. While one game resulted in a tie, the break in football relations is entirely a friendly one, Harry R. Hoot, Dartmouth's superior athlete, stated, due to the desire of the Green to put the rotating schedule into effect.

The entire Dartmouth football squad will enjoy its second day of rest today in order to get themselves rested from the exhausting Yale fracas Saturday.

At Margers, Dartmouth's stellar quarterback, was taken in the college infirmary upon his return to Haver from Arlington and it was feared he would be unable to engage in practice for the remainder of the season.

For the first time since the Yale game will be in order tomorrow, the replica of the Dartmouth squad probably being the longest one any football team has received just prior to a major tussle.

The Brown eleven will have practically its full strength for the first time this season when it encounters the Indians Saturday. The Brown coaching staff has admitted that it would rather win the Dartmouth game than any other, and the same feeling exists on the Brown side.

ALMELLO K. O.'S BALDIE IN 5TH

Al Mello, Lowell well known, celebrated his return to the ring by knocking out Frankie Baldie of Lynn, in the fifth round, of a 10-round engagement at Salem. Mello's terrific right and left hooks dropped Baldie twice for nine counts before he ended the battle by dropping a paralyzing right to the "Gentle" Jones.

Mello retired from the ring six months ago to recuperate from an injured nerve which affected his neck and shoulder. He received the injury during a bout with "Gentle" Jones.

DEATHBED TRIBUTE TO MARSTERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—"Beau" Florent, All-American captain of the Brooklyn Braves' football team at Yale in 1928, died at his home in New York City before he died on Sunday night.

His death was a great loss to the team for his sportsmanship and wisdom Marsters and his teammates success in life.

"Dear Alton Marsters," "I am so much of an inside club I cannot write myself, but as an old Yale center and a coach of many years, I have no admiration to only a cooling sensation of good sportsmanship and good football as Dartmouth showed on November 7."

"I was just play two years ago—that was the last time that I was able to see any game—and I picked you for one of the best backs that I have ever seen. I can't tell you how glad I am that you have no surprise justified that opinion and now are able to see so gallant a team meet so great a battle."

"I find no better wish to you and the Dartmouth team for the rest of the season and through life. H. P. Old, Yale, 1928."

Smith had five birdies and an eagle, the eagle being on the 49th hole. He had four birdies for the 1928 hole in 45 which is par, and the second nine in 34, three under par.

Quick Recovery Should Benefit General Trade

By B. C. Forbes

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—If you follow the advice urgently given in this column to buy stocks when the panic gains such as become available only a few lines in a generation. Assuming that the stock market will not recover until the end of the year, the general trade will be benefited by the recovery of the stock market.

It is extremely important that the general trade should be benefited by the recovery of the stock market. The general trade will be benefited by the recovery of the stock market. The general trade will be benefited by the recovery of the stock market.

Extremes rarely are healthy. It was entirely natural that the stock market should rebound impressively from its panic depths. It is not overlooking the possibility that the "action" may set in following the overwhelming avalanche of panic selling.

The gratifying fact remains, however, that conditions on the stock market are thoroughly healthy and that there is no reason why better than normal prosperity should not be enjoyed.

The return of normal market rates will make it feasible for foreign borrowers to obtain loans, and this should have a stimulating effect upon our already heavy foreign trade.

The prompt reduction of one percent in the New York rediscount rate may do something to mollify the Federal Reserve Board. Their action was wise and opportune. Their lightning of the money screws having all too tardily added a step to the long-run process of expansion in business.

Secretary of Commerce Laundon's statement that the stock market is likely to be reflected in the curbing of "luxury" purchases, is not altogether agreeable to those who believe that the market is likely to be reflected in the curbing of "luxury" purchases.

Editor's Note: This report is an effort to inform you of daily developments in active stocks. The Boston Evening American takes no responsibility for the statements of the expert who conducts this column, but gives them to you for what they are worth.

New York, Nov. 5.—Today, election day, is another holiday for Wall Street traders, but not for the brokers, clerks, stenographers and office boys who bear the brunt of the financial district's streets of work.

This third army must labor as hard as on any trading day. The workers are so busy today, in fact, that they will hardly have time to vote.

All specialists, by order of the stock exchange authorities, must be on the trading floor from 9:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. to clean up all open transactions hanging over from yesterday's 6,000,000-share session.

Brokers' offices, where some employees worked all through the night, continue to hum with activity as clerks, bookkeepers and margin clerks tackle the tasks that will not be completed for a week or ten days.

hand, they may be forced into the role of involuntary investors, forced to hold their stocks for the long pull.

SHOESTRING TRADING
Regardless of what has been said of the advisability of investing in stocks, the belief that a permanent upward movement would follow the long trading holiday.

Rebuke the Mud-Throwers, and Reward the Faithful Public Servant, by Giving Curley a Great Majority!

BOSTON is going to the polls today to elect James M. Curley mayor.

Results are the things that count, the politician will tell you, but it seems to us that it will not be enough merely to ELECT Mr. Curley.

The Man of the People should be given such a majority today as will submerge and sink all who have been engaged in the conspiracy against his good name and the good name of the city.

The more thought we give to it, the stronger becomes our opinion that there never has been fouler onslaught upon any man in public life in America than that which has been made this year against the candidacy of an able man who has devoted the better part of his life to the welfare and progress of the city of his birth and the comfort and happiness of his fellow citizens.

Did anyone EVER see the like of it!

He has been trailed from one end of the city to the other, by wholesale and retail dealers in bad names.

He has been called everything except—that he is—a good father, a model husband, a high-minded citizen, an expert in municipal government, one of the best city managers in America, a GREAT mayor.

HE has been attacked by the President of the State Bar Association. All we care to say about this picture, at the present time, is that if the members of the Bar Association find anything in it to admire they are quite welcome to the view.

Mr. Curley, as we have said, has been trailed and assailed by two LAWYERS, two trained, keen and able lawyers, who would drive him out of public life IF THEY COULD.

HAVE they done so?

WHY haven't they?

There are 12,000 new voters this year and ANY ONE of them knows the answer.

They couldn't!

THE great masses of our people are not to be so easily bamboozled.

The people of Boston know that Mr. Curley left the mayor's office four years ago, and was kept from going back at once only because of a Charter provision that no mayor can be elected to succeed himself.

For the past FOUR YEARS the mayor's office has been in the control of the OPPOSITION. For the four years of Mr. Curley's second term, and for the four years which have since elapsed, a Finance Commission has been on the job with no other purpose than to discover and uncover municipal wrongdoing, call the guilty before the Bar of Public Opinion and give the facts to the Public Prosecutor.

What were his present detractors saying of Mr. Curley THEN?

Nothing. Why? Because there was nothing they COULD say.

NO, they waited until the campaign opened, they waited until they discovered in Mr. Curley a rival candidate for office, and THEN they came forward.

It seems to us that we recall an old, old saying of the lawyers, that when YOU have no case it is good tactics to abuse the other fellow.

And that is what this anti-Curley campaign has been—a campaign of ABUSE, a campaign of SLANDER, a campaign of VITUPERATION.

"I have been informed," they say, "it is hinted that," "according to my information,"

No judge that ever was, in any court of any land under the sun, would let a lawyer get away with testimony of THAT sort.

You wouldn't hang a dog on it!

THE pity is that we have had to pay ANY attention to it.

The pity is that we have not been able to give ALL our time to a consideration of James M. Curley's character, personality and achievements, and none to the lies that have been told about him.

YOU may have observed in the newspapers of Monday that among the score of representative men and women who said a word or two in Mr. Curley's favor on Sunday night, to the 30,000 citizens assembled in Boston Garden, was MR. FRANK S. DAVIS, manager of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

What was an important executive officer of the Chamber of Commerce doing at a political rally? What BROUGHT him there?

We may be sure that it was not "politics," for the Chamber of Commerce is not, and never was, in politics.

JAMES M. CURLEY.

"The matter has now been taken up with Congress. Hearings will be held in Washington during the next session of the Congress, before Committees of the Senate and House of Representatives.

"Efforts are now being made to improve the channels of Boston Harbor, and to attract new steamship services to the port.

"In all of these matters it will be tremendously helpful to have as official spokesman for the Port of Boston a mayor who is thoroughly familiar with the needs and problems of the port and who is able to present the city's case forcefully and convincingly.

"Mr. Curley is interested in the welfare of the Port of Boston and well informed about its needs and problems. WHEN MR. CURLEY WAS FORMERLY MAYOR, NO PERSONAL SACRIFICE WAS TOO GREAT FOR HIM TO MAKE IN THE INTEREST

WHY was Davis there?

Mr. Davis answered that question. He was there because of his interest in the Port of Boston and its problems, and because, as he said, of his belief that the "efforts that are being made to build up the commerce of the Port of Boston will be given great impetus by Mr. Curley's election."

"Many problems vital to the welfare of the Port of Boston," Mr. Davis said, "will come up in the near future. For many years the Maritime Association, with the co-operation of the business, financial and labor organizations, has sponsored a fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission, the United States Shipping Board and other Washington authorities, for the removal of the unfair and discriminating differential rate barrier against the Port of Boston on export and import traffic from and to the interior.

"The results, up to date, have NOT been satisfactory.

"The matter has now been taken up with Congress. Hearings will be held in Washington during the next session of the Congress, before Committees of the Senate and House of Representatives.

"Efforts are now being made to improve the channels of Boston Harbor, and to attract new steamship services to the port.

"In all of these matters it will be tremendously helpful to have as official spokesman for the Port of Boston a mayor who is thoroughly familiar with the needs and problems of the port and who is able to present the city's case forcefully and convincingly.

"Mr. Curley is interested in the welfare of the Port of Boston and well informed about its needs and problems. WHEN MR. CURLEY WAS FORMERLY MAYOR, NO PERSONAL SACRIFICE WAS TOO GREAT FOR HIM TO MAKE IN THE INTEREST

OF THE PORT OF BOSTON. THE DEMANDS ON HIS TIME FOR THIS PURPOSE WERE HEAVY, BUT WERE NEVER DENIED, AND WHENEVER HE APPEARED RIVAL PORTS WERE FORCED TO SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE.

"It is singular that of the three candidates Mr. Curley is the ONLY one who has indicated ANY interest in the Port of Boston."

"Mr. Curley has announced through the press HIS views on the Port of Boston and what HE considers necessary for its development and progress."

"HIS IDEAS ARE IN ACCORD WITH ALL THAT WE ARE STRIVING FOR."

"In the next few years, as never before, we shall need to muster every possible resource to match the aggressive tactics of rival ports, and to bring to the attention of those who can help, the great natural advantages of the Port of Boston.

"Mr. Curley has time and time again proved that he is eminently well qualified by his intimate and thorough knowledge of the Port of Boston situation to LEAD the fight, and it is a REAL battle, for its betterment.

"These are a few of the reasons why I believe that BETTER TIMES ARE AHEAD FOR OUR WONDERFUL PORT WHEN MR. CURLEY IS ELECTED MAYOR."

MR. DAVIS told the great crowd in the Garden something about the dollars and cents value of increased commerce. One steamship line alone spends more than $5,000,000 each year, the "principal item for wages."

Two other steamship companies spend more than $4,000,000, and the total expenditure of all the steamship companies is amazing.

This money, first of all, is spent largely for WAGES.

Every steamer coming into the port employs hundreds of men to handle cargo, and supplies of all kinds are purchased from the wholesale and retail business concerns.

We call it unique, when an officer of the Chamber of Commerce, actuated only by his own loyalty to the Port of Boston, about which he is better informed than any other citizen, will go out upon the stump—as often for a single appearance—and plead for the election of one particular candidate.

IF it were not for the mud-throwers and the character-assassins, there would have been MORE Frank S. Davises speaking up for Curley.

In that case, our campaign would have been informative, educational, inspirational, in keeping with the traditions of the city.

And that is ONE reason why we hope the majority you will pile up today for James M. Curley will be at once a deserved tribute to a great mayor and a stinging rebuke to the backguard who thinks a mayorality campaign should be fought in the gutter.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND
"D O you know," exclaimed Mrs. Divot spontaneously, "if Bill should die or desert me, I don't believe I'd ever marry again!"
"I should hope you wouldn't!" rejoined Mrs. Greese. "Because I mean five years' youth reach the Great Divide. I don't mean death. Lucky the one who still has her own good, old pre-war husband and isn't foolish enough to put him into circulation!"
"After 40, a woman finds ninety few men around her own age, who are free, single and in the market for any wife over 25. So, she usually has to choose between being a young man's mother or an old man's nurse."
"Between putting ice-packs on young man's head and putting hot-water bottles on an old man's feet. Or between trying to keep up with a young man who has a fine foot and trying to slow down to an old man who has a scallie foot."
"Yes," agreed Mrs. Divot. "There is not much choice between trying to change the wild habits of a young man, who hasn't settled down and is trying to get used to the habits of an old man who has positively 'settled.'"

THE veins from the web are most to meet this need for oxygen. Venous blood, returning from the tissues, is driven at once to the lungs, where the oxygen content is restored. In the lungs the blood travels through another network of capillaries across the wall of which it comes into contact, not with active and hungry flesh, but with oxygen-containing air. From these lung capillaries the oxygenated blood is collected as bright into veins and returns again to the heart, and is pumped along a branching system of arteries into the rest of the body. The circulation of a man or a woman is thus a continuous loop. This, as it runs up the back of the abdomen, receives branches from the sides of the back, from the kidneys, from the intestines, from the liver.
In the chest it combines with two other main trunks, the anterior vena cavae, which carry blood down from the head, neck and arms. Finally, the stream of used blood collected from every part of the body by the venous system, from these vessels pours into the heart.
When the blood from the tissues reaches the heart through the vena cavae it is depleted of oxygen. The need for oxygen is imperative—a man cannot live without oxygen for more than three minutes, and the cells have no way of laying up stores of oxygen. A fresh charge of oxygen is therefore a primary requirement of this returning blood before it can go back to the tissues.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. MINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The Dan-gerous Age for settled spouses in New York this season seems to be the fifties. Three illustrious husbands in the past six months—aged 52, 54 and 57 respectively—deserted the friendly glow of the family fireplace for the fierce white glare of Broadway.
At present Mrs. M. C. Davis, 52, business and socially, were without blemish. They had reared children of whom they were deeply proud. Not a word of gossip was ever heard. Yet all over night in each case the domestic idylls were shattered by dangerous scandal.
The famous financier who after disposing of his interests pre-viously to settling in a chateau in France met a rich Irish and sweet spoken cutie with half length hair and a perfect sweet smile. They are seen nightly in the cafes and at the patios of the city.
Another was an importer whose wife came up with him to afflu-ence from small shop keeping druggery on the lower East Side. They were singularly devoted and had a long and happy marriage. A week-end to Atlantic City he ran afoul of one of those costly flir-tings ladies on the boardwalk.
In two weeks he had established himself in the apartment and was surrounded her with a luxury that in the great aorta, which leads directly out of the heart, it travels at about one-and-one-half to two feet per second, and in the aorta it is still considerable.
In the capillaries, its velocity has fallen to about a millifoot per second—about one-thousandth of its speed in the aorta. It is at this point that the blood is changed.
